In summary, what are the data telling us?

- School policy violations are resulting in exclusionary discipline
  - Disrespect, Disruption, Disorderly Conduct, Insubordination
- Disproportionality exists in the application of sanctions
  - Race, Gender, Disabilities
- Use of exclusionary practices is most prevalent in the following district categories
  - Charter Schools
  - Alliance Districts (Education Reform and Non-Education Reform)
- Students receiving disciplinary sanctions are experiencing substantial attendance and performance issues

What do we know?

- Suspensions and expulsions may exacerbate academic deterioration.
- Receipt of even one suspension is associated with higher likelihood of academic failure, school dropout, and involvement in the iuvenile justice system (American Academy of Pediatrics, 2013; Hemphill, Toumbourou, Herrenkohl, McMorris, & Catalano, 2006).
- When students are provided with no educational alternative, student alienation, delinquency, reoccurrence, crime, and substance abuse may ensue.
  - Social, emotional, and mental health support for students can decrease the need for referrals, suspension and expulsion perartment of Education

What do we know? Work at Three Levels

Provide Individualized Intensive Supports

Provide coordinated, intensive, sustained, culturally competent, individualized, child- and family- driven and focused services and supports that address needs while building assets

Implement strategies and provide supports that address risk factors and build protective factors for students at risk for severe academic or behavioral difficulties.

What do we know? "Restorative Practices Make a

- Restorative practices seek to provide a much clearer framework for restitution.
- Restorative practices recognize misbehavior as a learning opportunity.
- The relationship damaged by the offense is the priority
- Adults and students work to understand the impact of their actions on others.
- Positive behavior results form the opportunity to make amends and honorably integrate.
